

2006 VULNERABILITY ASSESSMENT and EMERGENCY
RESPONSE PLAN WORKSHOPS

This workshop is an opportunity to improve your communication network and learn emergency response techniques and public health preparedness for your community.

Workshop will be limited to 60 attendees, please register early.

Training Objective

The Drinking Water Section will conduct six (6) one and one-half day (twelve-hour) workshops on emergency preparedness for owners and operators of drinking water and wastewater systems, and for public and industrial entities in Arizona communities. The workshop will include information on the National Incident Management System, which establishes standardized incident management processes, protocols and procedures that all responders -- Federal, state, tribal and local -- will use to coordinate and conduct response actions. Part of each workshop will include attendee participation in a table-top exercise simulating a possible incident at a public water facility.

Professional Development Hours (PDH)

This training counts as 12 Professional Development Hours (PDH). PDH's are hours that are earned by taking training designed for operators to maintain certification and to enhance capacity and expertise. The Arizona Operator Certification Program requires PDHs for certificate renewal.

There is no cost for this training. Lodging, meals and transportation are the attendee's responsibility.
